

Aga Khan Academy reps visit Dhaka

Representatives from the Aga Khan Academy Hyderabad, India visited Dhaka last week to introduce prospective parents to their school, says a press release. Dr Geoffrey Fisher (Head of the Aga Khan Academy Hyderabad), together with Mrs. Leigh Fisher (Corporate Social Responsibility and External Relations Manager) and Imran Bandedali (Head of Admissions and Marketing) conducted a presentation about the academy at the Indira Gandhi Cultural Centre and Ismaili Jamatkhana Centre in the capital. The goal of the Aga Khan Academy Hyderabad is to provide world-class education for exceptional students with strong leadership potential. The Aga Khan Academy has been accredited as an International Baccalaureate (IB) World School and is recognised as a Microsoft Showcase School. The Aga Khan Academy has also been ranked as the top International Day cum Boarding School in Hyderabad, and third in India, by the leading magazine, Education World. The team will be back in Dhaka on May 14 to identify students with high potential as part of their talent identification process. They will be assessing students at the Ismaili Jamatkhana Centre for their residential programme, which is open to students entering grades 6 to 11.
